Hannah is an eleven-year-old girl whose family is moving and taking her away from her best pals, The Four Noodles. She devises a plan to run away, and hides in the back of the moving van when her plan turns from bad to worse. A thunderstorm forces her to take shelter in a neighborhood park. The true meaning of this story unfolds here, when she meets and befriends a homeless woman named Tilda Dawson. They each share their innermost feelings. While Hannah learns the pain one feels when faced with prejudice, Tilda learns the unconditional love Hannah and her family share.
