Incredible Story!

This book along with Submarine! By Commander Beach and The Wake of the Wahoo is one of the best books I've read about the submarine war in the Pacific. Another is by Dick O'Kane, but I don't remember the title. The story was incredible, and the characters were believable. I'm anxiously looking forward to Mr. Louie's next book.

Adam says

All three in series so far are exceptional.

Gripping

Well told WWII submarine story and the men on them. Author gives the reader a sense of the reality of war. Good fast read.

Gilbert Hatfield says

This was an ok book but I was on the boats and there were a lot of things that were not correct but and distracted from a good story. If you have never been on a diesel boat then it would have been better reading.

Obviously I found them interesting enough to read all three I had hopes that they would get better to true life but they did not.

Gave it 4stars basic WWII NAVY submarine tale if your an old swabbie with Dolphin wings you'll love it. I wouldn't get in one myself. I'm a cruiser sailor.

Probably the best of the Crash Dive series. Good adventure story with excellent descriptions. Not as much explanation of terms, equipment, etc., as that was all covered in prior books. Only negative I have with this one, like the prior, is that the ending was a little too fanciful and over-the-top.

This is book three of the Crash Dive Series. Our protagonist is Lt. Charles Harrison who is finishing PXO School and has been assigned to the USS Sandtiger.

The book is well written and fairly well researched. I enjoyed the interplay of the various personalities of the crew. The author made me feel as if I was one of the crew. The author also made me feel as if I was inside the submarine. The book is easy to read. I liked the fact that each book is about five hours. This makes a good change of pace from the longer non-fiction books I have been reading. I am looking forward to the next book.

I read this as an audiobook downloaded from Audible. The book is five hours and six minutes. R.C. Bray does an excellent job narrating the book. Bray has won the Audie Award, multiple Earphone Awards and the Voice Arts Award.

Excellent all action thriller

Craig DiLouie has done an excellent job of the Charlie Harrison third novel, It's submarine warfare at its ugliest with plenty of death amongst Charlie's colleagues and crew and loads of action.

Chaplain Stanleigh Chapin says

Like naval battles

You will enjoy this novel, it has a good story with ample character development. It also expressed the difference between the two countries culture's.

RJ says

I was able to purchase the Omnibus boxed set of this series, which includes the first three books of the series; Crash Dive, Silent Running, and Battle Stations. In this thrilling naval journal we follow Lt. Charlie Harrison's career from first war patrol in an old WWI S-55 submarine, to the Salmon-class? Sabertooth, then the Gato-class Sandtiger. With each boat Charlie learned his craft by doing, his inner self finding a home in the submarines. The action and tension is non-stop, fast and furious. The story came alive. The narration was exceptional, R.C. Bray once again performs brilliantly; vocal sound effects for the enemy screws, sonar, and battle stations a plus. For navy submarine fans this is a must read. I really enjoyed this series.

A stretch on reality, but a good read. The ending was too good to be true, but the good guys won is all part of the drama.

A stretch on realities, but a good read. The ending was exaggerated, but it let the good guys win like a good B movie.
