Her Tender Tyrant Elizabeth Lennox

Marcus moved through life expecting everything to be logical. Science could explain everything and he'd learned to make enormous profits understanding science. So when he runs into the illogical Juliette, his mind has a hard time understanding why she would walk down the street singing and dancing. There wasn't any music! But no matter how much he craved logic and reason, his body craved Juliette more.

Juliette is fascinated by Marcus's stoicism. How could he walk down the street and not feel the joy in the sunshine? How could he ignore the sounds of the grasshoppers and birds? Or smile at the perfection of a flower? And how could her mind and body need a man who didn't understand the joy of living life for the moment?

Phew, that was a close call!

There were quite a few spelling mistakes that caused a hiccup during the reading. I must say the subject of the thesis was far fetched but knitted the story together. On to the next instalment...

Been my favourite one I'm the series.

Hollie says

Good book. Sometimes a little repetitive, and a few times changed days without any break in the story so it was a little confusing. I still enjoyed it though.

Deeks says

Love the prank they paid on Marcus.

Gina Mackin says*Great book

I really love this series. How you keep all the couples so happy and in love after all the years is really amazing. You are truly one of a handful of authors who know how to keep the main characters in the story together and monogamous throughout the whole book and still have an exceptionally great story. I will really miss this series when it is over. Congratulations on another great book. Everyone should read this series. She doesn't disappoint. Gina
