

A Spring Bouquet (4-in-1)

Janet Dailey, Debbie Macomber, Rebecca Brandewyne, Jo Beverley, Ann Lafarge

Download now

Read Online ➔

A Spring Bouquet (4-in-1)

Janet Dailey , Debbie Macomber , Rebecca Brandewyne , Jo Beverley , Ann Lafarge

A Spring Bouquet (4-in-1) Janet Dailey , Debbie Macomber , Rebecca Brandewyne , Jo Beverley , Ann Lafarge

Celebrate spring with four seasonal love stories from today's leading romance authors. As refreshing as an April shower, as romantic as the flowers of May, here is love at its most passionate and tender--love you will remember forever. Janet Dailey, Debbie Macomber, Rebecca Brandewyne, and Jo Beverley collaborate to bring readers A Spring Bouquet. Original.

A Spring Bouquet (4-in-1) Details

Date : Published May 1st 1996 by Zebra

ISBN : 9780821753095

Author : Janet Dailey , Debbie Macomber , Rebecca Brandewyne , Jo Beverley , Ann Lafarge

Format : Paperback 475 pages

Genre : Anthologies, Romance, Fiction, Historical Romance

Download A Spring Bouquet \(4-in-1\) ...pdf

Read Online A Spring Bouquet \(4-in-1\) ...pdf

Download and Read Free Online A Spring Bouquet (4-in-1) Janet Dailey , Debbie Macomber , Rebecca Brandewyne , Jo Beverley , Ann Lafarge

---

From Reader Review A Spring Bouquet (4-in-1) for online ebook

Sylvia says

Modern

---

Tara says

The 1st 2 books in this 4 in 1 were great.. The last 2 not so much..

---

Patricia Solla says

4 enjoyable short stories. One about the old west, two about young love and finding each other again, and a historical romance with an interesting twist. I enjoyed reading each of these stories.

---

Doug Willstead says

I had read Debbie Macomber previously. Quite enjoyed her words.
That name on the cover caught my eye.
Perfect for any waiting room. Start anywhere and each one is a gem.

---

Gilliam Melanie says

each book was great.
castles in the sand was interesting, but the ending could have been better. The ending was a big disappointment since I have read some of Janet Dailey's work.
the marrying kind had such a good ending. Such an interesting story from Debbie Macomber.
hasten down the wind was really good, but it was a bit confusing in the beginning. The ending was really good. Such a good book by Rebecca Brandewyne.
forbidden affections by Jo Beverley was really good. The ending was ok, but I would like to know what happens later on. It was a very interesting book

---

Amanda says

I was drawn to this one because I am a huge fan of Debbie Macomber. I had never read any of the other authors' works, so I was curious to see whether or not I would like them. I've come away with mixed reviews.

I enjoyed Castles in the Sand by Janet Dailey. It's a very simple story about a man returning to the place he grew up, and focuses on the relationship with his friend Bridget. Some things about it were a bit unrealistic and other parts predictable, but overall I enjoyed it.

As I mentioned, I am a huge fan of Debbie Macomber, so as expected, I enjoyed The Marrying Kind. I think I could relate to it because from time to time I've had those dreams of what might happen if I came across an old boyfriend. Often life goes on after a relationship, but what happens when that person crosses your path again? This one was my favorite story from this compilation.

Things took a different turn in reading Haste Down the Wind by Rebecca Brandewyne. For me, once I start a book, I stick with it and finish it. If I weren't like that, I would have just skipped over this story. It was probably one of the most ridiculous stories I have ever read. It was part western, part historical fiction, part romance, part science fiction. This woman is watching her favorite movie and a storm zaps her back in time where she almost immediately falls into a romantic relationship with the character she's been obsessed with, Chaingo. Besides the joke of a plot, I really dislike stories where love scenes are written with such a choice of words that it is just totally cheesy. I tried flipping through to find one part that I particularly thought ridiculous, but I couldn't find it again. Anyway, it's just an overly flowery choice of wording that made me roll my eyes. I'll just leave it at the fact that this story was such a waste of time.

Finally came Forbidden Affections by Jo Beverley. After reading Brandewyne's story, I was a bit hesitant about another period piece, but this one was better than expected. I liked that there was also a hint of a mystery in with the romance. I truly enjoyed the characters and was rooting for a happy ending.

Overall I would recommend this, but would suggest skipping over Brandewyne's story. It just doesn't have the same quality as the other three.

---

? Briansgirl (Book Sale Queen)? says

Anthology

Castles in the Sand by Janet Dailey 3***

Not a bad story but hard to start liking our hero. Nice ending, but hard at times to keep reading to get there. My comment while in the middle of reading the story: Very strange. We're suppose to believe in a hero who won't talk to his dying father whom he hasn't seen in 12+ years but came back to "not" see him. Odd, very odd.

The Marrying Kind by Debbie Macomber

Haste Down the Wind by Rebecca Brandewyne

Forbidden Affections by Jo Beverley

---