P.A. Pursley says

Book 4 in the Witch's Sister saga. I am truly enjoying reading these books from my childhood. I didn't realize there were so many.

This book finds Lynn and Marjorie, Mouse, with the one thing that survived the house fire that took Mrs. Tuggle and her property to their fiery end. A glass eye. Lynn finds that everyone is either drawn to it or changes personality when they are near it. She and Mouse must find a way to dispense of the eye while keeping their families, and themselves, safe.

Good children's series!

Caroline says

Lynn and Mouse thought they were rid of Mrs. Tuggle forever when her house burned down, but Lynn picked up her unburned glass eye and kept it in her pocket. Now bad things seem to happen around the eye, especially with Lynn and her brother...

Mandy Stigant says

This whole series scared the ever living snot out of me when I was 12. For kids' books, they're pretty damn scary.
