This fast-paced mystery is chock-full of coincidences and bizarre twists. When Colleen and Daryl get together to plan their wedding, they can't agree on anything. Colleen is at her wits' end. Best friend Katherine votes for a time-out and proposes a girls' retreat to a town named Seagull, which borders Lake Michigan and the famous Indiana dunes. Mum is adamant they stay in a rented cabin right on the beach. Against Katz's better judgment, she agrees with Mum's plan — only on one condition: she's bringing Scout and Abra, who become very upset when she's away from them. With the Siamese in tow, Katherine and Colleen head to the dunes to find that Mum's weekend retreat is far from ideal. The first night, they have a paranormal experience and learn that a ghost walks the beach when someone is going to be murdered. Meanwhile, ex-con Stevie has a date with a woman he met online. But this news doesn't prevent the town gossips from spreading a rumor that he's having an affair with a married woman. How does Abra finding a wallet lead to a mix-up with dangerous consequences? It's up to Katz and her extraordinary cats to unravel a deadly plot that ends in murder.

Darla says

Colleen and Daryl are trying to plan their wedding but can't agree on anything. Katz proposes a girls weekend for the two of them and Mum at a bed and breakfast on Lake Michigan and the famous Indiana dunes but Mum's adamant they rent a cabin on the beach. Of course, Abra and Scout have to come as well and they help solve a murder mystery which has several twists and turns. This is a great read and addition to the Whales and Tails series.

The Cats that Walked the Haunted Beach, The Cats that, Book 10
by Karen Anne Golden

There are so many reasons why I love this series. Perhaps first on the list would be that Golden is a Hoosier author who resides in the same area of Indiana that I do. Second would be cats. I love stories that involve cats who actually do something, and certain the cats in this series, especially Scout and Abra, manage to be an integral part of the stories in this series without doing much of anything that isn't cat-like. Third would be that the stories are plotted and paced well, using believable dialogue, situations that are relatable, and characters that are consistently well-drawn.

In this series, Katz and her best friend, Colleen, and Colleen's mother, Mum, are going on a Girls' Retreat, spending a long weekend in a cabin on the edge of Lake Michigan adjacent to the Indiana Dunes. Colleen's wedding looms large, and the stress of the wedding planning, which is not going well, is getting to everyone. It is out of season, so the cabins are not fully rented, although the ladies will have neighbors, most remarkably, a young woman named Kate, in the cabin next door. The ladies' S.O.s, Jake and Daryl, will come up on Sunday to finish out the weekend. The area of the beach along which the cabins set is reputed to be haunted, which appeals to Colleen's ghost-hunter persona. When Scout and Abra go into their never-fails death dance, and the ladies catch a glimpse of the beach's ghost, things get tricky. Whose death does the appearance of the ghost, and the Siamese's dance portend?

The only thing about this series that could make me happier would be if Golden published more than once a year! If you are a mystery lover who prefers novels with a definite mystery, a few twists and turns, a red herring or two, lots of relatable action, great characters, and no cliffhanger endings, this series is made for you.

Luv the whole series

I love most any book that has cats in an active role. You get plenty of cat action with this series. The book is a quick read and keeps the action going.

More than a 5 star rating!!!

I've loved these books since the very first one! So full of laughs, suspense, and entertainment. Absolutely adore the cats and am so glad they have very active parts in the story line. I've always wondered if Karen Ann Golden and Lillian Jackson Braun where related!?!? Their style of writing is very similar. Both are brilliant writers! I'm so glad that since we lost Ms. Braun that we have Ms. Golden to carry on!!! I'm extremely addicted to this extraordinary series and hope it won't be long before I have another "Cats that ---" mystery to sink my teeth in!!

A bit too contrived, but I liked it anyway.
