Yuletide Cowboys is two stories in the one book. Two brothers. One brother in each story. The Cowboy's Yuletide Reunion by Deb Kastner. Marcus Ender goes to a tree farm to pick up two horses his grandma bought. When he gets there he finds out the place is owned by an ex girlfriend in laws. Sarah Kendrick's husband was killed in an accident a year ago. She has a baby and a three year old. She lives with her in-laws. A big storm comes up. Marcus is stranded at the farm. Marcus and Sarah re-connect. Her two girls love Marcus. A very romantic story.

The second story is called The Cowboy's Christmas Gift by Arlene James. Matt Ender is a rodeo star. He hurt his hand and went home to his grandma's ranch to re-coup. He finds a barrel racing woman and her sister living with his grandma. Neely Spence. Neely's living there and helping pay the bills. Matt is not happy and Neely is not happy. In this story they work out there problems. A nice romance story.

The story drew me in at page one. I love second chance stories. This story is proof of life causing us to loose our faith for awhile in our walk with God. Well written & edited.

This is 2 stories in one. The stories can be read as stand alone but compliment each other. The stories are inspirational romances with a western flavor. The Cowboy's Yuletide Reunion is written by Deb Kastner. Deb Kastner writes about former high sweethearts who have both had lives being brought at a time that they can help each other in different ways. Sarah Kendrick the heroine has been married is widowed and has children with a mountain of problems. Marcus Ender is on an errand for his grandmother and is ready for something different from his cowboy counselor life. The Cowboy's Christmas gift by Arlene James is about an injured rodeo rider forced to come home to the family ranch and finds out that things are different. What a merry story this is. No spoiler but you will laugh and cry at the same time. the two Cowboys are brothers and have to deal with leftover problems from the childhood.

A great read with a Christmas,cowboy and ranch theme.

I really enjoyed this book. The two stories in it were great. The little children in both books were just so cute and funny.

Two brothers, each with their own romance story. One travels to Colorado where he meets up with his old girlfriend. They don't want to fall in love, but when a snowstorm traps them at her home, he falls for her, her in-laws, and her daughters.

The other brother drives home to his grandma's ranch in Oklahoma. It's run down and there's a woman sleeping in his bed. After a rodeo injury may end his career forever, he wonders if he can make a go at the ranch, and his grandmother's business partner wonders if she and her sister will have to find a new place to live.

Both stories are sweet and simple. Each are about a hundred pages. The romance is sweet. I think the second author's timing was actually off for how lone the first brother was actually missing, and I liked the first story better; but they were both great short stories.

Authors Deb Kastner and Arlene James have created a hopeful, thoughtful, and light-hearted series. The stories of the Ender brothers' Christmases are compelling. I laughed a lot, almost cried several times and thoroughly enjoyed both stories. I would recommend this book to anyone but, especially those who like contemporary cowboy stories. I received this book through a giveaway but want to buy it for my church library.

Yuletide Cowboys is by Deb Kastner and Arlene James. It is two books in one and both are inspirational novels so unwanted language and subject matter are avoided.

The Cowboy's Yuletide Reunion is by Deb Kastner. Sarah Kendrick has tried her best to keep her husband's family Christmas farm in the family; but he left too many debts behind and Sarah has sold almost everything to try to pay those. Now she has to start finding a place to move with her two daughters and her in-laws as well as finding a job to support them. Her last two horses have been sold to Sheryl Ender of her hometown and she is sending someone to pick them up. She is really sad about that; but there is nothing she can do. However, she is not prepared to face her high school boyfriend, Marcus Ender when he comes to pick up the horses. Marcus isn't prepared to face Sarah either. He has no idea she is the one he is to get the horses from. Before he is able to get them loaded and leave, a blizzard hits and he is forced to stay with Sarah and her family over Christmas. But will there be a Christmas here?

The Cowboy's Christmas Gift is by Arlene James. Matt Ender is forced to come home after an injury which sidelines his job as a rodeo rider. As he waits to find out if his hand will heal right so he can still ride in the rodeo, he has no place to go but home. Here he finds the Ender Ranch as he knew it gone; but his Grandmother and a former cowgirl Neely Spencer are raising quarter horses to barrel race. He learns the decision to change the output of the ranch was to be able to keep the ranch, he is embarrassed and guilty. He hadn't been home in years so didn't see how the ranch was sliding under. Maybe he could have helped. Now he has to make sure Neely Spencer is not out to take the ranch out from under Marcus and himself. As flames flare between Matt and Neely, the action heats up. Is Matt here to run Neely and her sister off the ranch?

Both books are exciting and romantic. As love blooms, so does the Christmas season.
